Mahatma Gandhi Study Centre 2006 to 2020

SCOPE AND IMPORTANCE OF GANDHIAN STUDIES:-

The Mahatma who has been accompanying us since his first experiment of "Satyagraha" he launched against the racist law in South Africa, more the half a century after his fall to the bullets of his own brother, Godse the essence of Gandhi refuses to go away. He continues to be with us, agitating our minds in relation to our contemporary structure of socio-political life. The importance of Gandhian thoughts and its relevance to our own times needs more intellectual & scholarly review and assessment.

Gandhi a mystic & religious man was the greatest political activist the world has ever seen. He was disturbed by the state of Indian Society. He reflected deeply and pondered over the nature & causes of its degeneration, to conclude that he devoted his entire life to the exploration of moral order appropriate to Indians in the modern age. One of the principal and daunting problems preoccupying the minds & hearts of students & scholars of social change today is that, India today more than ever before is increasingly unable to provide adequate food, housing, health care, education & employment to its burgeoning population. As such, can we attempt to find Gandhian answers to prevailing problems is the toughs peeps in mind & the desire to establish Gandhi's relevance to our times. The question whether Gandhi is relevant is not novel. It was asked during his lifetime by his critics, who thoughts, he was an eccentric and his ideas were ridiculed and were not taken seriously when he began practicing Indian Politics, But he emerged as the most popular leader.

In the country, he was concerned as social reformer to find, with a real desire & honest commitments, the grievances of the people & cure them. As such Gandhian thoughts needs to be analyzed from different perspectives. Such an academic exercise may help establishing the relevance of Gandhian thoughts to solve contemporary problems. Taking all these issues is mind the Gandhi Study Center has been working continuously since last eight years, with aim To work in coherence with the national objectives for the development of youth, and objective To guide the students in and around Jalna to make them strong in mind and to take up activities for the people to co-exist in harmony by having dignity respect for either religions.
